2027 Schedule of Fees

Australian Institute of Social Relations | RTO Code 102358

Effective from: 6 October 2026

About this Schedule

This Schedule of Fees outlines the fees applicable to nationally recognised training delivered by the Australian Institute of Social Relations (AISR) in 2027.

The fee that applies to you will depend on the course you enrol in, your eligibility for South Australian Government subsidised training and, where applicable, your eligibility for a concession.

Fees should be read together with the information provided on the relevant course page and AISR's Fees and Payment and Student Information webpages.

Understanding the Fees

Full Fee

The total course fee payable where you are not accessing government subsidised training. All AISR qualifications are available on a full fee basis.

Subsidised Tuition Gap Fee

The student contribution payable where you are eligible for South Australian Government subsidised training through Skills SA. The remaining cost of the training is subsidised by government.

Concession Tuition Gap Fee

The student contribution payable where you are eligible for South Australian Government subsidised training and meet the applicable concession eligibility requirements.

Eligibility for subsidised or concession fees is assessed as part of the enrolment process. The availability of a subsidised place does not guarantee that an individual applicant will meet the eligibility requirements.

What Your Course Fee Includes

Unless otherwise stated, course fees include:

- tuition and scheduled training activities
- access to AISR learning and assessment resources
- assessment associated with the course
- access to standard AISR student support
- issuance of your qualification or Statement of Attainment following successful completion.

Some courses may have additional requirements that are not included in the course fee, such as obtaining required clearances for work placement. Any specific requirements are outlined in the relevant course information.

Skills SA Subsidised Training

A number of AISR qualifications are available with South Australian Government subsidies for eligible students.

Eligibility requirements apply and may vary depending on the qualification and individual circumstances. AISR will confirm your eligibility during the application and enrolment process.

For current information about subsidised training and eligibility requirements, visit Skills SA.

Payment Options

AISR offers a range of payment options. Depending on your course and circumstances, these may include payment by unit of study, payment of the full course fee upfront, a fortnightly payment plan, or payment by your employer or another third party.

Eligible students undertaking approved diploma-level or above qualifications may also be able to access a VET Student Loan to assist with tuition fees.

Further information about payment options and VET Student Loans is available on the AISR Fees and Payment webpage.

Recognition of Prior Learning and Credit Transfer

If you have existing skills, knowledge or previous formal study, you may be eligible to apply for Recognition of Prior Learning (RPL) or Credit Transfer.

Where RPL or Credit Transfer is approved, the fees payable for your course may be adjusted where applicable. AISR will confirm any impact on your course fees following assessment of your application.

Further information is available through the Recognition (RPL) and Credit Transfer information on the AISR website.

Withdrawal, Deferral and Transfer

Withdrawing from, deferring or transferring your course or a unit of study may affect the fees you are required to pay.

Students should refer to the AISR Student Handbook for information about withdrawal, deferral and transfer requirements, including any applicable fee implications.

Changes to Fees

This Schedule of Fees applies from the effective date shown above. AISR may review its fees from time to time, including where there are changes to government funding arrangements.

Students will be advised where a change affects the fees applicable to their enrolment.

Further Information

For more information about fees, payment arrangements, funding eligibility or your individual circumstances, please contact AISR.
